Miller says no nuclear waste dump for Muskoka-Haliburton

Local MPP Frank Miller has reassured residents of Muskoka that no nuclear waste disposal sites are planned for the area.

Responding to calls he has received following publication of a story that the Muskoka-Haliburton areas were possible future nuclear waste disposal sites, Mr. Miller said "anything is possible," but felt it unlikely we would see that type of development in these areas during our lifetimes.

The provincial treasurer went on to point out that while Muskoka may some day be considered for a potential waste disposal site, at the present time it is not in the list of regions where exploratory drilling is thought to be feasible, and it is not even among those areas designated for preliminary rock structure analysis.

Only Atikokan in northwest Ontario has been selected by the federal government for exploratory drilling.

Mr. Miller noted that the federal government through Atomic Energy of Canada is responsible for the maintenance and eventual disposal of all nuclear related materials in Canada.

The Muskoka MPP concluded by advising that consideration of any part of Muskoka for any type of nuclear facility would not proceed without the fullest public disclosure and discussion of any such proposal.

Parks alcohol ban is now in effect

A seven-week-long alcohol ban went into effect this week in 13 of Ontario's 128 provincial parks.

No drinking or possession of alcoholic beverages is permitted in the 13 parks until the ban ends on June 17. The parks are Outlet Beach, Sandbanks, Sibbald Point, Balsam Lake, Turkey Point, Arrowhead, Earl Rowe, Presqu'ile, Algonquin (Highway 60 campgrounds), Bon Echo, Killbear, Fitzroy and Ferris.

Natural Resources Minister James A. C. Auld said rowdy behaviour resulting from excessive alcohol consumption has been a problem in these parks in the past particularly over the May long-weekend.

Mr. Auld said he wants to encourage a return to peaceful camping that the whole family can enjoy without being disturbed by noise and abusive behavior.

"Last year, when the ban was introduced, many campers wrote to the ministry to say how pleased they were to find such a welcome change," Mr. Auld said.

A pamphlet listing parks with the short-term alcohol ban and outlining the general rules concerning alcoholic beverages in parks is available, free-of-charge, from the ministry's provincial parks branch, Whitney Block, Queen's Park, Toronto

Police week comes to an end

MINDEN - Last week was national police week in Ontario and Haliburton County was very fortunate to have the OPP display trailer in the area. Theme this year was 'Working together to prevent crimes'. The trailer was on display in Minden beside the police detachment on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning, then moved to Haliburton where it remained for the rest of the week on Highland Street. Constable Wim Magee was kept busy all week answering questions from the many people who took advantage of the display trailer.

The trailer is full of photos of police activities, including scuba diving, the handling of firearms and police officers on patrol. A 1909 uniform is also displayed along with an air patrol demonstration and instructions on the safe handling of bicycles. There is also a memorial to Cloud II, who was shot in the call of duty while tracking an escaped prisioner. The trailer can also be used as a self-contained detachment in the event of an emergency, like plane crashes, and also for patroling special events like the Mosport races.

$50 million DREE agreement for Eastern Ontario in jeopardy

At a federal election meeting in Marmora last week, Clarke Rollins, M.P.P. for Hastings-Peterborough expressed concern that continued Federal Government procrastination is placing the proposed $50 million DREE Agreement for Eastern Ontario in jeopardy.

The Eastern Ontario M.P.P. said he learned late last week that the Minister responsible for DREE, the Honourable Marcel Lessard, had demanded yet another major change to the proposed Agreement. This latest change involves a demand by the federal government to delete the $10 million Small Business Assistance component of the Agreement, thereby reducing the package from $50 million to $40 million.

"This is the second time the Federal Government has arbitrarily demanded major changes in the Agreement, despite the fact that both governments had intentionally approved the Agreement for signing," Rollins said.

Rollins said it was under his understanding that prior to these alterations being demanded by Lessard, the Ontario Government had passed an Order-in-Council authorizing the committment of the funds and the signing of the Agreement, while the Federal treasury Board had taken similar action in Ottawa, almost two months ago.

Mr. Rollins also accused Prime Minister Trudeau of hypocrisy, when, during the leader's television debate last Sunday evening, Mr. Trudeau told viewers that his Government allocates DREE money only to those areas where a Province wishes it to go.

"Nothing, absolutely nothing could be further from the truth", said Mr. Rollins.

To back up his accusation, Rollins cited Ontario's recent but futile attempts to have Peterborough County included in the proposed Eastern Ontario DREE Agreement.

Mr. Rollins outlined several actions Ontario Treasurer, Frank Miller, had taken to ensure that Peterborough County was covered by the Agreement.

"On November 15th, last year, Frank Miller met with Marcel Lessard, to discuss the proposed Eastern Ontario Agreement. To back up its request, the Province, following that meeting with Mr. Lessard, sent two formal briefs to Ottawa, both stressing the importance of including Peterborough County in the Agreement, as well as providing specific and detailed reasons why it should be included," said Mr. Rollins.

"All to no avail", noted Rollins. "All we got from Ottawa was a lot of mumbo-jumbo about Peterborough County being to close to the City of Toronto. Lessard told Miller that because the County comes so close to Metro, it couldn't possibly be included in the Agreement."

"In my opinion", concluded Rollins, Peterborough should definitely be part of the Agreement. Like other parts of Eastern Ontario, it too needs help to stimulate development of new industry and jobs, to be able to secure a bright future for all its citizens."

Office of the Premier

TORONTO — Premier William Davis has urged Canadian journalists to take a more positive approach to the country's economic and political challenges.

"As fellow Canadians I do not urge you to try and hide our scars or mask our shortcomings. Criticize us when we make mistakes but at the same time remind us that as a country and as people we have a lot going for us," Mr. Davis told the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

"It is more than disconcerting for people in public life to preach needed pride and confidence in this country to business men, service groups, investors and others when in one broadcast or article a journalist can spread gloom and doom to countless thousands and have a far greater impact," said the Premier.

"We are known around the world for being a progressive, compassionate, humane and peace loving people. But at home we seem to spend most of our time asking who we are and down playing our many accomplishments as individuals and as a nation," said Mr. Davis.

"If we are to meet the challenges we face we must have confidence in ourselves and in that regard the men and women of the media have a major role to play," he added.

Beaver Theatre break-in screen, projector's damaged

MINDEN - Sometime between Monday, May 14 and Friday, May 18th, vandals broke into the Beaver Theatre here and caused some $4,200 damage to the screen, lens and projectors.

The damage was discovered by the manager of the Beaver Theatre Mrs. Victor Martin at 3 p.m. on Friday when they arrived to get the theatre set up for that night's movies.

The theatre is owned by Louis Consky of Toronto and was entered through a fire exit door near the projection room. The persons responsible then damaged two reflection mirrors in one of the projectiors worth $350 each. They then smashed a lens in one of the projectors, worht over a $1,000, then went to the front of the theatre and ripped the movie screen. The tear was nine feet long in the middle of the screen and a four foot piece was torn away.

Let's go Boating

Getting Started in Boating

How does one get started in boating, particularly in the middle of winter?

Actually, winter is probably the best time to start boating, because there isn't any pressure to hurry and get the boat in the water. Many a long suppressed desire to take command of a vessel and sail off over the horizon in search of high adventure can be replaced with reality and fact prior to the season opening. The Allied Boating Association of Canada states: The first place to go boating is at one of the winter boat shows held in most cities. Even many of the winter outdoor and sports shows have plenty of boats on display and your first visit to the show will give you a chance to talk, look and listen with dealers and manufacturers' representatives. Do not forget your soft-soled shoes for boarding boats and be sure to pick up the literature you require at the show so that you can study it and get a good idea of what best suits your needs and plan a second visit to the show. Take your time to visit with as many dealers as you can as they have more time to sit down with you and discuss your project and the products they represent. It is sometimes a good idea to plan a business trip or visit with relatives while the boat show is in progress if it's too far away from your home location.

In most communities where there is any significant boating activity there are courses offered by clubs or commercial schools on boating. The courses offered by the Canadian Power Squadron are particularly good and have the advantage of being uniform in quality all over Canada as well as being inexpensive. Joining such an organization can be one of the best ways to make boating friends who already have a wealth of experience which they are willing to share with others.

Commercial schools and clubs normally have a small fleet of boats for students. It's a chance to "test-drive" the boat of your choice or at least get an idea of the feeling when the warmer weather approaches. In addition you will also meet people already into boating who can give you some of the tips you need when starting out.

Reading books and magazines on boating gives you a headstart and libraries have a selection of boating books. There are a wide number of magazines depending on sail or power and a year's subscription is a good investment when one considers the long winters and the happy planning which can go on in front of a warm fire in midwinter. Most boating magazines have reader information cards so that you may obtain additional information on advertisers' products. Use these cards and study carefully the literature you receive. Take some time to ask yourself some questions about your own lifestyle. The answers will affect the choice of the best boat for you. Do you really have the time to do all the maintenance that some boats require or will you wish to pay someone to do it? Are you going to be boating from a cottage or a nearby resort or do you want to keep travelling and take the boat with you? Are you more interested in sailing than power or does the combination of a fishing motor and a more powerful unit for water skiing appeal to you? Have you considered joining a yacht club and perhaps racing regularly? Perhaps you have long summer vacations or time in the evenings for sailing. Are you going to provide accommodation for six on board your dream vessel or is this a one or two person excursion?

Before you buy, check out boating facilities in your area. Dealers and yacht clubs are knowledgable as to what's available and the kind of boat best suited for the area in which you plan to boat.

Last, but far from least, prepare a budget. Talk with your dealer, boating friend, insurance agent, banker and others to make sure that you haven't forgotten an original or operating expense. Above all, don't over extend yourself as most boaters start out with their first choice only to end up trading upwards three or four times as their knowledge increases.

Allied Boating concludes: You will find lots of help and other people who are getting started in boating.

Jim Federenko world 5-pin bowling singles champion

Victoria, B.C. - Jim Federenko, a 26 year old accountant from Brantford, has won the men's singles title as the Canadian Five-Pin bowling championships concluded on Wednesday.

Federenko, who led from the outset, won 10 of his 14 games and averaged 267 during the three day event. His final winning margin was a 3 1/2 points over Doug Kachuck of Saskatchewan.

Federenko's winning performance was the only first-place finish by a Southern Ontario bowler, but it did manage two silvers and a bronze.

The silver medals were both in the Classic Division, which is open to bowlers who average 210 and under. The ladies team actually tied Alberta for first place, but lost due to a 9-7 points disadvantage during their two matches with Alberta.

The men's team was only a half point behind Manitoba.

Ontario's bronze medal finish was by the Kitchener ladies team, which finished 12 points behind winning British Columbia. The Kitchener girls were led by Thelma Thompson, who averaged 250.

Newfoundland bowlers were winners in the men's team and ladies singles, while the mixed team champions were from Sudbury under the banner of Northern Ontario.

Former High School buddies purchase Kashagawi Marina

OX NARROWS - Eight years ago Tom Kunza and Wally Visentin graudated from St. Jerome's High School in Kitchener and then went their separate ways - Tom to the field of automotive technition and wally as a salesman for Leon's Furniture in Burlington.

Early last year the two school chums met again, both had gotten married, Tom to Lori and Wally to Ori. Early this year the four were playing cards one evening when they started talking about how great it would be to own their own business and get out of the rat-race of the city. Tom and Lori always wanted to go into the marina business and it turned out that Wally and Oria wanted to own their own restaurant.

In April of this year the two couples both saw their life-long dreams come true when they purchased Kashagawi Marina and Restaurant at Ox Narrows, ten miles north of Carnarvon on Highway 35.

They changed the name to 'Waterlott Marina, Luncheon & Cottages' and started renovating the marina to meet their satisfaction. The restaurant is now open and seats 40. They feature 'Weekend Specials' such as cabbage rolls, veal cutlets, homemade soups and pies. Other specials will be added in the future. All the meats are fresh, "we want to serve fresh hamburgers, not the frozen kind", said Lori. "We also have grocery items, dairy products and other sundry items for both the local people and the tourists," Tom added.

The marina features six efficiency cottages for rent by the day, weekend, week or seasonally. The parking lot at the marina is also big enough for large trucks to stop on their way north.

Tom and Wally are presently expanding the marina so that repairs can be done to boats and motors brought in for servicing. They have gas service for both land and water vehicles.

Open planning — office design without walls and doors — is being adopted by a growing number of companies.

Pot Luck Supper

Jeanne Sears

The Thursday card gang had their pot luck supper at the Parish Hall at 6 on Wednesday, May 16th. After the buffet meal, Gladys Wruth gave her report of expenses and after these were paid a donation of $340 was made to St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Prizes were presented for lone hands to Della Griffin, and perfect attendance to Joyce Hewitt and Harry MacMinn. Gladys also thanked all who had made the year so successful either by donations, food, helping set up, or just by coming.

Then Anne Dawson, on behalf of this group, thanked Gladys and presented her with two deck chairs. Gladys thanked us graciously and then asked for help and Jeanne Sears and Lilian Davidson offered this once a month.

We will start the Thursday mini card games again on September 26th at 1:30 sharp. Any newcomers liking to play cards or wishing to make new friends, as well as the "Old Gang", are welcome to come. To finish the evening many stayed for a social time at their favourite game of cards.

Ministry of the Solicitor General

TORONTO — April 30, 1979 — Retail stores are required by law to be closed on Monday, July 2nd, Solicitor General R. Roy McMurtry announced today.

He made this announcement well in advance of the date because of the many telephone calls and letters from concerned merchants which have already been received by the Ministry of the Solicitor General.

"The provincial law requires stores to close on Dominion Day, which this year falls on July 2nd. Therefore, stores are required to remain closed on that Monday in addition to the usual Sunday closing," Mr. McMurtry explained. "There is no provision for substituting another day. In some tourist areas, however, municipal councils may have taken advantage of a provision which allows them to pass a by-law creating exceptions. Retailers would have to check this with their local municipal clerk."

The store closing law, which came into force on January 1st of 1976, requires all stores in Ontario to close their doors to the public on certain holidays, which are New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labour Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, Boxing Day and every Sunday.

Some stores are exempted from the requirement to close on holidays, and these include nurseries, flower shops, service stations, laundromats, restaurants, hotels, take-outs, car, truck and boat rentals, car washes, drug stores meeting certain conditions and small stores selling food, newspapers, tobacco, antiques and handicrafts.

The law is enforced by the police, and conviction can result in a fine of up to $10,000., in the discretion of the Court.
